New school has a name

The Camas School District's newest addition now has a name.

At the School Board meeting last Monday, it was announced that the new school would be named Woodburn Elementary.

It will house up to 600 students and is located on a 12.8 acre site just north of Lacamas Park on Crown Road.

The district purchased $15 million of Qualified School Capital Bonds to pay for this project. The bonds have a greatly reduced interest payment, but the bond money must be spent before Dec. 31, 2012.

Construction is expected to begin August 2011. The school will be open in the fall of 2013. When it is finished, it will be the sixth elementary school in the district. The other schools are Dorothy Fox Elementary, Helen Baller Elementary, Grass Valley Elementary, Lacamas Heights Elementary and Prune Hill Elementary.
